FLEXIBLE SCREW CONVEYORS

flexible screw conveyors (also known as helix conveyors, screw conveyors, spiral conveyors and auger conveyors) offer efficiency and versatility, conveying bulk materials ranging from large pellets to sub-micron powders - both free-flowing and non - free-flowing - with no separation of blended products.

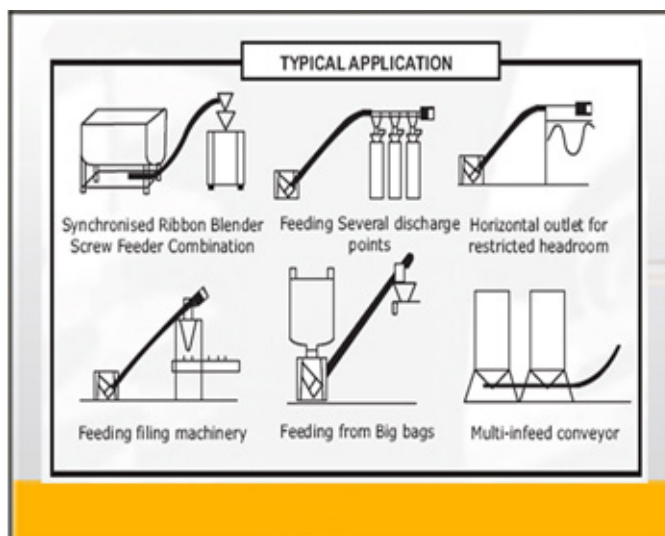

Flexible screw conveyors can convey in any direction - from horizontal to vertical, routed around fixed obstacles and equipment, and from one room to another. These conveyors are also an extremely cost effective method of conveying dry bulk solids and ingredients!

Additionally, flexible conveyors are ideal for lifting materials from bag dump stations or storage bins. They can convey products at ceiling height to feed a line of processing or packaging machines - as multiple discharge points can be placed along horizontal sections.
